Senior Web Developer

$80-90k Full-Time | Competitive Equity

Oversee the development of client-side engineering solutions; hand-code website applications, web pages, and web-based mobile experiences; integrate your code with other tech (Flash, Web Services, client back-end systems, content management systems); optimize performance; and work with lead designers and engineers.

Required skill set:

- 3+ years web development experience
- Experience using MVC frameworks (Django, Ruby on Rails, PHP)
- Full stack capable -- can build from concept to production
- Strong experience in Javascript and its frameworks
- Firm understanding of cross-browser/platform issues and code solutions
- Experience building and deploying using AWS
- Experience working with video players

Bubbl enables audiences to curate premium content by easily creating snackable, shareable, mobile-friendly clips.

Sure, our mobile app and Chrome extension let users curate premium content in an entirely new, mobile-friendly way -- but why stop there? We're also working with some of the largest content companies in the world to append our technology to their media players, enabling audiences to "touch" what they watch, while they watch it. Queue best web developer ever.

YOU.

You are a wizard who can code anything, but are always hungry to learn more. You're so bright, NASA studies you through a telescope. You love detail, like catching that typo; you beat deadlines before they're set, and when it comes to annotating, you put the OCD in coding. You want to join a team of brilliant minds boasting top degrees and technical chops, and you want to sharpen your own skills while getting paid in a fast-paced environment.

Sound like you?

Send your resume, CV, and anything else you want to show us to: rob@bubbl.me
